McCallister County Park

EXPANDED PUBLIC ACCESS NOW AVAILABLE!

McCallister County Park, located in Brookhaven Town, is an 100-acre peninsula situated on Long Island Sound and Port Jefferson Harbor. The park, located adjacent to Pirate's Cove and at the end of Cliff Road, is an ideal location for a walk on the beach at any time of year. Previously, this location was only accessible by boat as visitors had no parking access and were ticketed for parking on the streets. Last year the Department installed a parking lot and signage, finally creating public access to this pristine park. Please remember that dogs must be on leash at all times, as this site is an important nesting site for Piping Plovers from April through August. Parking for the park is located on the north side of Anchorage Road, and is limited to the clearly designated parking area.

Rental companies who are not on the “approved list” will be denied access to the parks.

Camping Changes and Improvements for 2014:

Campers will notice a few changes in the campgrounds this season, but the most obvious change will be the conversion of fifty-five sites from basic to electric sites at Southaven Park. This improvement will help to accommodate camping units such as trailers and motor homes more effectively.

Campers who frequent Sears Bellows will notice that the camping season has been extended. Sears Bellows will remain open past Labor Day and up to Columbus Day Weekend.

THE PIPING PLOVER

Long Island beaches are used for nesting by seabirds and shorebirds. Among these are the Piping Plovers. This small, sand-colored bird is a threatened species and is protected under the Endangered Species Act. The Plovers return to Long Island beaches each year in March and after establishing their territories begin to form nests in the sand. The Parks Department, through its Endangered Species Protection Program, hires seasonal monitors to locate the birds and to install fences and signs near nesting areas to keep humans and predators away.

Occasionally, during the season, Parks personnel may need to close or restrict beach access for the best protection of the plovers and other natural resources. When this occurs, signs will be posted at the parks and daily updates will be available on the Parks page of the County's web site at www.suffolkcountyny.gov/parks.
